SVKM President's Message

Our significant journey in the field of education started in the year 1981 when Shri Vile Parle Kelavani Mandal (SVKM) established the now world famous, Narsee Monjee Institute of Management Studies (NMIMS) in Mumbai. This was done to cater to the growing demand for management education in our country. The management institute was accorded the Deemed to be University status in 2003 by the Government of India on UGC's recommendation. This was in recognition to NMIMS' contribution to management education, industry and institution building.

HEY,

DEAR READERS

Welcome to the September Edition of SVKM's NMIMS Global University, Dhule E-Magazine

We are delighted to present the September edition of our official monthly e-magazine, an initiative by the Social Media Committee that continues to showcase the vibrant spirit and creativity of our campus community. This platform stands as a testament to the voices, ideas, and achievements that make NMIMS Dhule truly unique.

The month of September was filled with energy and excitement — a time packed with engaging events, inspiring activities, and moments that brought students and faculty together. Each event reflected our shared enthusiasm for learning, collaboration, and celebration, adding another memorable chapter to our campus story.

As you explore this edition, we invite you to relive those moments, discover new perspectives, and celebrate the people who make our community shine. Together, let's continue to nurture this spirit of creativity, connection, and growth that defines NMIMS Dhule.

1. Teacher's Day

The Synflair Committee of the School of Commerce organized the annual Teachers' Day Celebration with a perfect blend of fun, appreciation, and creativity. The event brought together students and faculty in a lively atmosphere filled with laughter, gratitude, and togetherness.

The celebration began on a heartfelt note with the soulful rendition of the NMIMS Anthem, followed by a tribute to Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, honouring his legacy and the spirit behind Teachers' Day.

Adding a playful spin, teachers took centre stage for engaging games like the Balloon and Cup Challenge, Guess the Word, and a witty Rapid-Fire Round. The cheerful competition and student cheers turned the room into a burst of energy and laughter.

A proud highlight of the day was the official launch of SNGU's first E-Magazine, unveiled by the Social Media Committee alongside the faculty, celebrating the institution's achievements, creativity, and collaboration.

The celebration concluded on a touching note as students presented handmade greeting cards to their mentors, expressing heartfelt gratitude and appreciation for their guidance and dedication.

2. GARBA

Workshop

The Synflair Committee of the School of Commerce hosted a power-packed 10-day Garba Workshop that filled the campus with festive beats, colourful energy, and cultural pride. The workshop aimed to bring students closer to the vibrant tradition of Gujarat while promoting togetherness through dance and celebration.

To make the experience authentic, professional Garba instructors from Morbi, Gujarat, and Mumbai were invited to lead the sessions. They taught students a blend of traditional Garba moves and innovative choreography, helping them grasp both the technique and the spirit behind every step. The daily sessions turned into a joyful exchange of rhythm and laughter, as students learned, practiced, and perfected their moves in unison.

As the workshop drew to a close, participants showcased their skills in a lively group performance that lit up the room with energy and festive cheer. The event beautifully captured the essence of Navratri—celebrating tradition, unity, and the joy of dancing together as one community.

3. CHARCHASATRA 2.0

Battle of Wits

Where perspectives clash, ideas evolve, and voices shape the conversation.

The Samvaad Committee of the School of Commerce successfully hosted its flagship debate competition, “Battle of Wits – Charchasatra 2.0”, blending intellect with spirited discourse.

Round 1, held on 25th September 2025, saw 57 participants divided into eight groups debating topics spanning technology, consumerism, social media, and national policies. The session, judged by Mr. Rajendra Agrawal and Ms. Neha Taneja, concluded with 16 students shortlisted for the next stage.

Round 2, conducted on 29th September 2025, further intensified the contest. The shortlisted participants engaged in compelling arguments before the judges, CA. Pooja Sadane and Ms. Paridhi Ajmera. From there, six finalists advanced to the ultimate showdown, a heated debate on pressing global issues like ethical business, corporate responsibility, and space exploration.

The event showcased eloquence, analytical depth, and teamwork, marking yet another successful initiative by the Samvaad Committee in nurturing confident and articulate voices within the SOC community.

4. RANGTALI Garba night

The Synflair Committee beautifully captured the essence of Navratri through its much-awaited Rangtali Garba celebration, an evening that painted the campus in vibrant hues of joy, rhythm, and tradition.

The event began on an auspicious note with a traditional aarti, where students and faculty came together to seek blessings for prosperity and harmony. The rhythmic beats of Garba soon filled the air, as participants adorned in colourful ethnic attire took to the floor with infectious enthusiasm.

The highlight of the evening was the Garba Competition, where students showcased their graceful moves and unmatched energy. Winners were crowned under various categories, including Garba Queen, Garba King and Best Dressed, celebrating both talent and tradition.

Adding to the festive vibe, a range of food stalls offered mouth-watering delicacies, making the evening even more delightful. The entire campus buzzed with laughter, music, and camaraderie as students danced the night away.

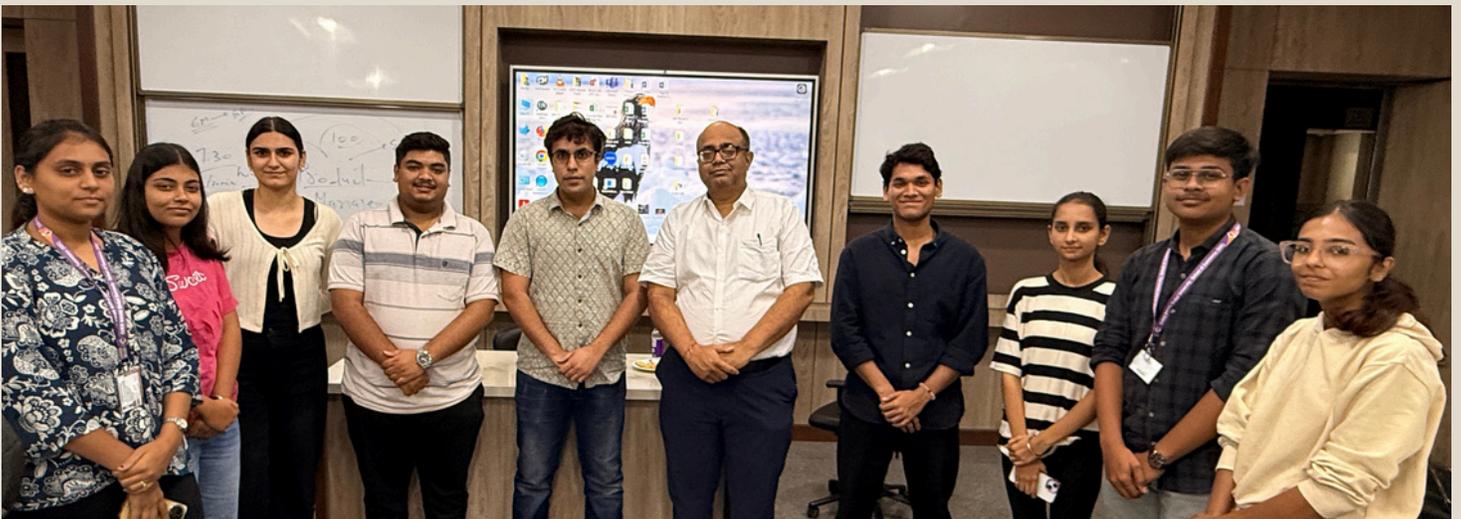

Rangtali Garba was more than just a celebration; it was a beautiful reminder of our cultural heritage, bringing together tradition, creativity, and togetherness in a truly memorable way.

RANGTALI.

5. Adapting AI Revolution

Getting Employable in the AI Age – with Mr. Suryansh Chaudhary

The E-Cell Committee organized an engaging and insightful session with Mr. Suryansh Choudhary, Director & Founder of WT Winds Consultancy, on the theme “Getting Employable in the AI Age.”

Addressing questions like “Will AI take our jobs?”, “Is MBA mandatory?” and “Can commerce graduates enter the tech domain?”, Mr. Choudhary guided students on navigating an evolving job market shaped by artificial intelligence.

He emphasized the importance of adaptability, continuous learning, and acquiring future-ready skills to stay relevant in a tech-driven world. The session also introduced a six-month internship program, providing practical exposure and skill-building opportunities to prepare students for careers integrated with AI.

With his real-world insights and approachable style, Mr. Choudhary inspired students to embrace change and future-proof their employability.

FIELD VISIT

Chandak farm

6. SY BBA Field Visit

To enhance practical learning under the subject Local Waste Management Systems, the SY BBA students embarked on an enriching field visit to Chandak Farm on Saturday, 27th September, guided by Ms. Paridhi Ajmera Ma'am.

The visit aimed to help students understand real-world waste management techniques, focusing on composting and sustainable farm practices that minimize environmental impact. Upon arrival, the students were welcomed by the farm owner, who conducted insightful demonstrations of eco-friendly practices, including composting, vermicomposting, rainwater harvesting, and biogas production. Detailed explanations helped students connect classroom concepts with their practical applications in agriculture.

Following the educational session, students explored the lush green surroundings of Chandak Farm, soaking in the fresh air and serene landscape. The atmosphere quickly turned lively as they relaxed, clicked pictures, and shared light moments, blending learning with fun.

The visit proved to be a perfect combination of academic insight and experiential learning, leaving students inspired to adopt eco-friendly practices and appreciate the importance of sustainable living.

Green HR Analytics: A Pathway to Sustainable Workforce Strategies

By Dr. Shriprakash Soni, Dean – SNGU School of Commerce

Sustainability and innovation continue to reshape the corporate world, and leading this intellectual pursuit is Dr. Shriprakash Soni, Dean of SNGU School of Commerce, with his recently published research paper titled “Green HR Analytics: A Pathway to Sustainable Workforce Strategies.” The paper has been featured in the prestigious ABDC International Journal – Empirical Economics Letters (June 2025 Special Issue).

Dr. Soni’s impactful research delves into how HR analytics can serve as a catalyst for environmentally sustainable practices within organizations. By integrating data-driven insights into workforce management, the study highlights innovative approaches to enhancing employee engagement, reducing carbon footprints, and strengthening employer branding through Green HRM initiatives.

This paper not only reinforces the role of HR analytics in driving business efficiency but also emphasizes the importance of aligning organizational goals with environmental stewardship – paving the way for a greener, more responsible corporate ecosystem.

COMMITTEE'S Note

As we unveil the September Edition, our second magazine of the academic year, we take immense pride in bringing together another chapter that reflects the vibrance, creativity, and intellect of our student community.

This edition captures not just events and milestones, but the spirit of curiosity and innovation that drives us all. From thought-provoking sessions like “Getting Employable in the AI Age” by Mr. Suryansh Choudhary, to field visits, achievements, and stories that highlight student initiatives — every page represents a piece of our collective growth.

The Magazine Committee continues its mission to document moments that matter, give voice to ideas worth sharing, and celebrate the diverse talents that make our campus dynamic. We hope this edition inspires you to explore, express, and evolve with every experience college life offers.

Here's to learning, creating, and celebrating together — one edition at a time.
